Killarney U. F. A.

"The Killarney U.F.A. is in disruption over election issues. President Tom Armour and Mrs. Armour have resigned, also H. Foreman, while other resignations are in order. The parties are U.F. members who voted against provincial action, when it was first proposed, and have consistently held to their viewpoint that the Stewart government was better than a government entirely put up of inexperienced farmers and that the real power of the U.F. movement was as a delegating body to the legislature. But the final cause was the U.F.A. provincial platform which while professing equal rights to all, was by its 'responsible only to organization' clause, just a new way of demanding special privilege—in their opinion at least.—Edmonton Bulletin.

The grain is turning out good in the Fram district. Louis Swanstrom and Sam Ullis started their seasons run of threshing at the Lavold farm last Saturday morning.

The lady members of the Association are providing light refreshments. So all members will please be in their usual places.

The concert given by the pupils of the Fram School was a huge success. Irons) were only surpassed by the efforts of the children themselves. One hopes for more in this line. Especially of the same quality.

Edinglassie Notes

A dance was held in the Oddfellow Hall last Friday evening. Only eleven couples were present. Apparently the promoters forgot that it was harvesting season.

The folks in the Edinglassie district will doubtless turn out in good numbers to the dance in the Edinglassie school Friday September 2nd.

With the harvest drawing to a close in this part the organizers feel that it will be a good thing to have a celebration before threshing is in full swing. The modern woman who spends thousands of dollars yearly on wearing apparel isn't much like the first member of her sex, who didn't care a fig-leaf for clothing.

Accident to Mr Loy

A serious accident occurred to Mr Loy a few days ago. He was hitching his horses to the binder when he received a kick from one of them. For some time Mr. Loy had to lay on the ground until he was able to attract the attention of some children proceeding to school. Help was immediately given and the injured man assisted to his home where the doctor was soon in attendance, also a trained nurse. How serious the accident is not generally known, but according to the latest report, Mr Loy is progressing slowly, but is still in a serious condition.

Our sincere sympathies are with Mr and Mrs Loy, and we hope for more reassuring news ere long, and that James will soon be his genial self once more.

W. L. A. Notes

To speak of December on a sultry day in August seems incongruous. To mention Christmas gifts when all interest is centred in the yield of wheat per acre seems waste of time.

But our excuse is that with assistance we are trying to solve the vexing question of gifts and in order to do this we must get your attention in good time.

The W.A. of Westminster church purpose holding a bazaar early in December. This is an annual affair but this year the ladies have decided to enlarge it and hold it on a more ambitious scale.

There will be a number of booths plain work; fancy work; candy; home cooking and a number of others. Aprons, so necessary to the house wife, are considered worthy a separate stall. The men are not overlooked but will find at the "Mens Furnishing" just the gift they are looking for.

Will you please then each make at least one article. You may leave the articles with Mrs. McNutt, the president, and she will see that they reach the hands of those in charge of the different booths.

All-Canadian Union Is Excluded From The Labor Congress

The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada has voted to exclude the Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad Employees, a union of over 7,000 members by a vote of 394 to 151. Things have come to a bad pass when an all-Canadian union cannot be officially recognized in its own congress simply because it is not international in its scope.

Forty-four Lives Lost In Airship Disaster

Forty-four men lost their lives by the explosion and wreck of airship ZR-3. This vessel was on its trial trip and after 34 hours in the air was returning to the areodrome. At 1000 feet over the city of Hull England, the airship seemed to buckle and plunged downwards into the river Humber. The burning wreckage prevented the imprisoned crew from escaping and the rescuers from giving help and only five men escaped from the holocaust. The broken halves of the airship reached the water some distance apart and it is the opinion of onlookers that the commander accomplished a remarkable feat by diverting the descent from the city to the river.

An Assurance

Resulting from a conference between Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, and other ministers, with the officials of the Canadian Bankers' association, an assurance was given by the association that the banks would give all reasonable consideration with regard to periods of loans and renewals and that no undue pressure will be brought to bear for liquidation of advances.

Combat The Sawfly

The sawfly attacks wheat, rye and barley. Oats, corn and potatoes are not attacked. Do not sow wheat after wheat, do not 'stubble in' any crop where this insect has worked. If a field has been seriously attacked this year, sow a crop next year which will be immune.

Between August 1 and May 15th carefully plow all infested stubbles. Bury the worms which are now in the wheat stems, so that they cannot emerge. Give special care in plowing to the edges of the fields, which have usually the worst infestation.

Pros And Cons Of Growing Rye

(By F. S. Grisdale, Principal Olds School of Agriculture)

At the present time we read a great deal about the fall rye crop. The importance of this crop for general use in the province of Alberta can scarcely be over-estimated. During the past few years it has given very striking proof of its superior quality when compared with other crops of every description. Some of the advantages of growing fall rye are as follows:

From the work with the water requirements of some of the crops at Olds in 1920 it will be observed that winter rye shows up very well. This possibly is on account of growing in the cool of the fall and spring when transpiration is reduced. Moreover the fall rye attains its maximum development when the number of hours of sunshine is longest, and therefore at a time when the greatest photosynthesis takes place. A further point is that fall rye stands in the ground and grows for a longer period than most crops, and can, as a result, utilize a greater proportion of the annual precipitation.

Fall rye forms a covering over the ground and prevents evaporation of the soil moisture. It also prevents soil drifting in the fall, winter and early spring months.

It chokes out weeds by growing up quickly in the summer after it is seeded, and again in the early spring before the weeds start.

Fall rye very seldom suffers severe injury from rust. This is because the crop develops before the season when rust appears in its most virulent form.

It suffers very little injury from cutworms and other insects. These insects may attack the crop to some extent but rarely, if ever, destroy it.

It is one crop that suffers very little from early frosts in central Alberta.

It furnishes very good pasture in the fall and spring months when other pastures are very poor.

By having winter rye as well as other grains, the man on the land finds himself in a position to do a maximum amount of work with his outfit of power, machinery and help. It distributes the seeding and harvest seasons over a long period of time, and enables a man to do his own work with the least possible amount of extra help.

In a cropping system that includes winter rye, greater security is insured against loss than is the case where it is not grown. Rye grows vigorously during May and June, and may produce a fair crop in a season when summer drought ruins spring sown grains.

The average annual provincial production of fall rye per acre is from two to three bushels more than the acre production of wheat.

Fall rye may be cut for hay when feed is scarce. If cut early for hay it springs up a second time, and gives good pasture or a second crop of hay.

Winter rye sells for a price that is about on a par with the prices paid for Durum wheat. Winter rye is also of very high feeding value for livestock. In this respect it compares favorably with barley.

Objections Advanced Against Fall Rye

There are two objections advanced against the growing of winter rye. They are that the rye is likely to get mixed with wheat on farms where wheat is grown, and seriously reduce its grade; and that the ergot in the grain and straw may cause losses when stock are fed on it. These are both minor objections that can be avoided, the former through the use of a proper rotation, and the latter through the use of a rotation and careful seed selection.

Seed and Varieties

In growing fall rye care should be exercised in selecting seed. Seed that is acclimatized, clean and free from ergot, should be sown. The results from the variety tests with fall rye at this station shows conclusively that no variety has any great superiority in hardiness or yielding qualities over any other. The main point to consider is that the seed must be sound, clean and free from disease (ergot). The following table gives the results of the tests with fall rye varieties at this station in 1920:

Variety	Yield per acre
Rosen (Minnesota)	57 bushels
Common (Steele Briggs) ..	57.5 bushels
Demonstration farm ...	58.5 bushels
Rosen Noble)	57 bushels

This year's results are not yet available, but we have reason to believe that the results will be very similar to those of a year ago. The motto from these results should be:

"Use good clean seed of any acclimatized variety, but do not pay more than a few cents above the market price for commercial rye for any seed, not even Rosen rye, which is very much over-boasted by certain interests."

Date and Rates of Seeding

Winter rye should be sown between July 15th and August 30. With the pounds of seed per acre. With the later seeding i.e., dates coming after August 30, use from 45 to 70 pounds of seed to the acre.

The earlier dates of seeding are more certain to produce a good strong stand. The early seeding, however, produces a strong rank growth that makes a heavy drain on the soil moisture, and sometimes causes a lighter yield of rye the following year. With the later seeding, a poor stand may develop, and as a result the crop does not protect the ground very much, and is more likely to winter kill.

In sowing rye the gauge is set as for wheat. The seed should be put down to moisture and not less than two inches deep.

It is a poor practice to pasture the rye crop closely in the fall. When it is pastured closely in the fall it is more liable to winter kill. A crop that has made good strong growth in the fall, if it was not pastured off, may be pastured in the winter. Moderate spring pasture may be allowed without seriously injuring the crop of grain.

Crops in the Prosperity Valley district are reported very good. Binders are still busy.

In the Edinglassie district the crop is all cut. Very little rust is to be seen this season. Threshing is just about to be started.

Charges For Grain Handling May Rise

An intimation that the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company may be forced to disregard the regulations of the Board of Grain Commissions if the commission does not increase the handling charges for wheat, oats and other grains, has been conveyed to the board by J. B. Musselman, managing director of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association.

Mr. Musselman has just returned from Winnipeg whehre he presented the views of the organized farmers of Saskatchewan on the application of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company for an increase in handling charges to the board.

In presenting his case, Mr. Musselman quoted the resolution passed by the Grain Growers of the province in their last annual convention, endorsing an increase on handling charges on grain up to a maximum of 2 cents on wheat and proportionately on other grains. He pointed out that the Elevator Company could probably successfully defy regulations imposed by the commission which would force them to render service at a loss. There was a measure of doubt as to the legality of the Canada Grain Act, he said, but it would be unfortunate if any of those engaged in the grain business should see fit to violate its provisions, as long as it was the only legislation which existed for the protection of the farmers.

"One of the main reasons for the unanimous approval of the proposed increase in charges by the grain growers," said Mr. Musselman, "was that the company has followed the policy of paying as high a price for street wheat as financial safety would permit. Special binning has been for many years carried on at a price much below actual cost, and this has operated against paying the maximum for street wheat. It has penalised the small farmer while helping the large farmer. The Grain Growers wish to see this inequality rectified and for that reason voted in favor of increasing special binning charges so as to cover cost of service"

Letters To The Editor

Thrifty, Or Near The Bit ?

Editor, Chauvin Chronicle
Dear Sir:
I notice in your issue of last week where favorable comment is made upon the 'tight fist' attitude of the new U.F. legislating body towards subscription lists. With the possible exception of the Scot, public opinion concedes to each private citizen the right to 'save the spondulicks' in whatsoever manner seemeth good unto him,—and it may be that the man who solicits our vote and for whose presence in parliament we all 'chip in' as taxpayers to help keep him in the style, not so much perhaps as he has been accustomed to, as the style considered fitting to his temporary dignity—it may be that he also should have a right to say what he will do with his salary, as much as when a private citizen, but to insist first off on this particular point is surely not cutting a very heroic figure. Have our new legislators then, no regard for the old unwritten rule of 'Noblesse oblige' which has in the past formed a friendly link between man and man, and society at large, and which after all is the mainspring of mutual good fellowship. But that's the worst of being overzealous to show one's democratic instincts, we are apt in our haste to cut down many fine trees of use and wont, which we will never be able to replace by planting our brand new democratic ideas. Not that I would either advocate or condemn the particular matter of subscription lists, it is the sentiment which it reflects that makes one wonder if, after all, we have not returned a bunch of pikers to office? Of course we know they ran on a "special privilege" ticket, but we hadn't thought of them making the privilege just so one sided as that! Besides according to that free and easy clause in their to do is to hint to the executive to Political Constitution all they need start a 'Please-my-voters' fund, and this being approved of, the Whirlwind organiser of the district with the proud record of organising a whole township in about twenty-nine hours plus a few odd minutes and seconds, can get on the job, canvassing the needed dollar, or 'whatsoever sum the executive deems necessary.' Privately I have an idea that they won't deem such an awful lot necessary for this purpose, still it can always come in handy for other purposes. However

I expect this disinterested advice will be lost on both parties, our U. F. legislators preferring to maintain their present 'what I have I hold' attitude on the subject of loose change.

Just the same I am willing to take an affidavit that the majority of our conscientious objectors would, when in convention assembled have resolved with many whereases and adjectives over the 'other fellow' if he had shown himself so lacking in appreciation of the honor they had done him, as to refuse to head a subscription list from their particular local, no matter how paltry its purpose. But of course circumstances alter cases!

Perhaps though, our new U.F. legislators though chary about relaxing their personal purse strings, are going to be jolly good fellows when it comes to spending the public money. At any rate we find Perrin Baker, the minister of education, has been among those present at an enthusiastic meeting of the Jasper to Vancouver advocates, and judging from what he did not say he must have been as enthusiastic as the rest of them.

Now we agree it must be pretty painful to have a car, and be all dressed up, and have nowhere to go, but people as well off and as idle as that can always use the railway which needs the revenue all wealthy travelers can give it! But while a viewpoint favorable to the project could be expected from the rest of the company, surely the Hon. Perrin Baker, knowing the awful condition of the roads in so many farming districts—the deplorable conditions in the south country, the pressing closer problem of unemployment, not to mention that present mountain of provincial debt about which certain U.F. orators ranted loud and long—surely he did not signify his approval of this abortive "good idea"—in the usual manner? The evidence is that he did, "Organise and go get it" he is reported to have said. Of course it is always much easier to spend the other fellow's money than it is to spend our own, so long as we don't consider the feelings of the other fellow!

One way and another, now that a real farmers' government has been replaced by U.F.A.'s camouflaged and real, perhaps the cities which have been disgruntled over lack of notice given their needs, and schemes which the Stewart government would not countenance, will get an innings. For wasn't it resentment at the Stewart administration more than admiration of the U.F. logic, that caused the goat of conservatism and the U.F.A. lamb to form a lison on election day?

"I could not love thee, dear, so well; hated I, not the government more" was the sentiment, and like all other goats he is going to butt for his rights. It's going to be a 'group' government after all!

Yours truly
THE BYSTANDER

No decision has yet been made by the provincial executive council as to when the various by-elections for the cabinet ministers will be held. Premier Greenfield stated Saturday morning that the question had not yet been dealt with and no announcement would likely be made in this respect for some time.

It is known that some of the U.F.A. members elect have been approached with respect to resigning and giving their seat to attorney general Brownlee but so far nothing definite has been arrived at. The general impression seems to be that Premier Greenfield will probably accept the invitation of the Ponoka U.F.A. and represent that constituency in the house. In the event however of none of the southern members being willing to relinquish a seat for Mr. Brownlee it is likely that he will accept the Ponoka nomination and Premier Greenfield will be offered another district in the north, probably his own riding of Pembina.

In view of the farmers giving the portfolio of public works to the Calgary labor leader, Alex Ross, it is suggested in some quarters that the other labor member of Calgary, Ald. F. White, resign and allow Mr. Brownlee to represent his home city of Calgary in the legislature.

It is likely that all the new members of the cabinet will be returned by acclamation when the by-elections are held. With respect to Mrs. Irene Parlyby a by-election will not be necessary so long as she is minister without portfolio. Another point has been raised in this connection however by the constant attention to executive affairs which Mrs. Parlyby is giving at the present time. She has taken offices in the buildings formerly occupied by Hon. J. L. Cote and is giving full measure of attention to government business. However under the constitution she will be unable to draw any remuneration for ministerial duties since she is not in charge of a department of government. In the event of her deriving any remuneration in addition to the sessional allowance of a private member it is held that she would be required to stand for re-election the —Edmonton Bulletin.

Conveniently close to the railways in the prairie provinces there are approximately 34,000,000 acres of fertile land capable of producing 170,000,000 bushels of grain per year, with a monetary return of more than $400,000,000. But even the 34,000,000 acres do not at all represent the extent of fertile arable land awaiting cultivation. It has been computed that there are 225,000,000 cultivatable acres in the four Western provinces. Of this there are only 35,000,000 producing at the present time. This leaves 190,000,000 acres yet to be made productive.

During the past three years a steady effort has been kept up to increase the number of freight cars on the Canadian National Railways with the result that this year on the railways owned, operated and controlled by this great transportation system 122,000 freight cars are available for all work. During the past three years 21,358 freight cars have been added to the equipment, also quite a number of locomotives of the latest types for present day requirements. The Canadian National will handle a large percentage of Western Canada's wheat crop this year.
